

CREECH AWARD

2019 Denise L. Creech Outstanding High School Chemistry Teacher Award

The Savannah River Section of the American Chemical Society (encompassing Aiken, Barnwell, Edgefield, McCormick, Columbia, Richmond, Burke, Emanuel, Jenkins, and Screven Counties) is currently accepting nominations for the 2018 Denise L. Creech Outstanding High School Chemistry Teacher Award. This award includes a $500 gift to the teacher, a $250 grant for laboratory supplies to the school, and a membership to AACT (American Association of Chemistry Teachers).

The Denise L. Creech Outstanding High School Chemistry Teacher Award, sponsored by the Savannah River local section, is named in honor of Denise L. Creech, an outstanding South Carolina high school chemistry teacher, who has since moved on to a position at the American Chemical Society's headquarters in Washington, D.C. Please help us encourage and support high school chemistry education by passing this notice on to appropriate teachers and/or students.

If you wish to nominate someone or yourself, please complete the nomination form below or contact Ashlee Swindle (Ashlee.Swindle@srnl.doe.gov) for more information. This award has an open nomination period and a winner will be selected in December 2019. Nominees not selected this year will remain under consideration for the award for 3 years.
